Fox Foxes have four toes, the rear pad is usually the same size as the toes

Human
Humans have five toes and a long back pad

Opossums Opossums have five toes, on the one track print they have a large space between two of the toes (looks like a thumb)

Turkey

Turkey tracks look like tiny airplane shapes on the ground. The wild turkey is native to this area and feeds on both seeds and insects throughout the year.

Squirrel
Squirrels leave complicated tracks, lots of pad and claw marks

Deer Deer prints are arrow-shaped with the direction of the hoof moving in the direction of the arrow.

Racoon
Racoons have different front and back prints.
The back print is larger then the front
